

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF ILLINOIS

NEVIN BOOTH, individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated,

Plaintiff,

v.

GROUPON, INC., a Delaware corporation, d/b/a Groupon,

Defendant.

Civil Action No. _____

CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT

JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT

Plaintiff Nevin Booth ("Plaintiff"), for his Class Action Complaint, alleges as follows upon personal knowledge as to himself and his own acts and experiences and, as to all other matters, upon information and belief based upon, inter alia, investigation conducted by his attorneys:

INTRODUCTION

1. Plaintiff Nevin Booth brings this cause of action against Groupon, Inc. for violation of Illinois gift certificate laws which prohibit expiration dates earlier than five years.
2. Groupon has made hundreds of millions of dollars by making an end run around these laws. The gift certificates Groupon sells ("Groupons") typically expire within days or weeks of purchase, and cannot be used incrementally.
3. Plaintiff is a consumer representing all consumers nationwide with regard to his claims under the Illinois gift certificate statute.

PARTIES

4. Plaintiff Nevin Booth is a resident of Seattle, Washington. Plaintiff purchased gift certificates from Defendant in 2010 and 2011.

5. Defendant Groupon, Inc. is a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in Chicago, Illinois. Groupon sells gift certificates online.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

6. This Court has original jurisdiction over this action under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2) because the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $5,000,000, exclusive of interests and costs, and is a class action in which at least one plaintiff, Booth, is a citizen of a State different from the defendant.

7. The Court has personal jurisdiction over Groupon because Groupon has continuous and systematic contacts with Illinois. Groupon's principal place of business and corporate headquarters are in Illinois. Groupon regularly sells "Groupons" to Illinois residents.

8. Venue is proper in this judicial district under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(1) because this is the judicial district in which Defendant Groupon, Inc. is deemed to reside under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(c).

9. Venue is also proper in this judicial district under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(2) because this is a judicial district in which a substantial portion of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred.

10. Alternatively, venue is proper in this judicial district under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(3) because this is a judicial district in which Defendant Groupon, Inc. may be found and there is no other district in which the action may otherwise be brought.

FACTS

11. Plaintiff Nevin Booth is a resident of Seattle, Washington.
12. Plaintiff purchased a “Groupon” gift certificate from Defendant Groupon, Inc.
13. The gift certificate Plaintiff purchased was for cooking classes at the Blue Ribbon Cooking School.
14. Plaintiff purchased this gift certificate on February 9, 2010, and it purported to expire on February 9, 2011.
15. Plaintiff did not redeem his gift certificate by the February 9, 2011 expiration date.
16. Defendant Groupon’s online terms and conditions provide that Groupon gift certificates may not be used incrementally. The entire value reflected in a Groupon gift certificate must be used in a single visit to the offeror of goods or services reflected in a Groupon gift certificate.
17. Defendant Groupon’s terms and conditions also provide that in the event that a Groupon gift certificate purchaser fails to redeem his or her Groupon gift certificate by the expiration date, the purchaser may recover from Groupon the purchase price they paid Groupon for the gift certificate, rather than the face value of the gift certificate.
18. According to Groupon’s terms and conditions, if a purchaser of a Groupon gift certificate has redeemed a portion of the value of represented by the gift certificate before the expiration date has passed, any remaining value may not be redeemed.

CLASS ALLEGATIONS

19. Plaintiff brings this suit as a class action under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(a), (b)(2), and/or (b)(3), on behalf of himself and the following “Class” comprised of:

All consumers who purchased a “Groupon.”

20. Excluded from the Class are (a) Groupon, any entity in which Groupon has a controlling interest or which has a controlling interest in Groupon; (b) Groupon’s employees, agents, predecessors, successors, or assigns; (c) Plaintiff’s attorneys and any member of Plaintiff’s attorneys’ immediate family; and (e) the judge and staff to whom this case is assigned, and any member of the judge’s immediate family.

21. Plaintiff reserves the right to modify this class definition prior to moving for class certification.

22. This action has been brought and may be properly maintained as a class action under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23 for the following reasons:

- a. The Class is ascertainable and there is a well-defined community of interest among the members of the Class because all Class members purchased “Groupons.”
- b. On information and belief, there are millions of members of the Class residing in different states. Membership in the Class is so numerous and geographically dispersed as to make it impractical to bring all members of the Class before the Court because the identity and exact number of members of the Class is currently unknown but is estimated to be in excess of 100.
- c. Plaintiff’s claims are typical of those of other members of the Class, all of whom have suffered harm due to Groupon’s course of conduct as alleged herein.
- d. Plaintiff is a member of the Class because he purchased a “Groupon.”

- e. There are numerous and substantial questions of law and fact common to all members of the Class that control this litigation and predominate over any individual questions under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3). The common issues include, but are not limited to, the following:
 - i. Whether Groupon sells or has sold “Groupons” with unlawful expiration policies.
 - ii. Whether Groupon’s unfair acts or practices were committed in the conduct of its trade and commerce.
 - iii. Whether Groupon’s unfair acts or practices cause or caused damage or injury to Plaintiff and the other members of the Class.
 - iv. Whether Groupon’s unfair acts or practices are and were intentional, willful, or recklessly indifferent to Plaintiff’s rights and the rights of the Class.
 - v. Whether Groupon has been unjustly enriched by issuing or enforcing or selling “Groupons” with unlawful expiration policies.
- f. These and other questions of law and fact are common to the members of the Class and predominate over any individual questions affecting the Class.
- g. Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Class in that Plaintiff has no interests that are antagonistic to other members of the Class and has retained counsel competent in the prosecution of class actions to represent himself and the Class.

- h. Without a class action lawsuit, the Class will continue to suffer damage, Groupon's violations of the law or laws will continue without remedy, and Groupon will continue to enjoy the fruits and proceeds of its unlawful conduct.
- i. Given (1) the substantive complexity of this litigation; (2) the size of the individual Class members' claims; (3) the limited resources of the Class members, few, if any, Class members could afford to seek legal redress individually for the wrongs that Groupon has committed against them.
- j. This action will foster an orderly and expeditious administration of Class claims, will economize time, effort, and expense, and will result in uniformity of decision because all matters will be resolved at one time with a minimum of legal fees and judicial resources.
- k. This action presents no difficulty that would impede the Court's management of it as a class action, and a class action is the best and/or the only available means by which members of the Class can seek legal redress for the harm caused by Groupon.

23. The various claims asserted in this action are additionally or alternatively certifiable under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(1) or 23(b)(2) because:

- a. The prosecution of separate actions by hundreds of individual Class members would create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications with respect to individual Class members, thus establishing incompatible standards of conduct for Groupon.

- b. The prosecution of separate actions by individual Class members would also create the risk of adjudications with respect to them that would, as a practical matter, be dispositive of the interests of the other Class members who are not a party to such adjudications and would substantially impair or impede the ability of such non-party Class members to protect their interests; and
- c. Groupon has acted or refused to act on grounds generally applicable to the entire Class, thereby making final declaratory and injunctive relief with respect to the Class all arise from substantially similar sets of facts and from Groupon's identical course of conduct.

51. Specifically, Groupon's unfair and illegal actions as described above have enabled Groupon to receive money in violation of Illinois law at the expense of Plaintiff and all other members of the Class. Groupon's receipt and retention of this financial benefit is unfair and improper under the circumstances.

52. Groupon should be required to disgorge the money retained as a result of its unjust enrichment.
